PLACERVILLE, EL DORADO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA MONDAY, MARCH 10, 1941

NUMBER 46

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

"Don't hesitate to strike; Uncle will feed you!"

When the strike of lemon pickers in the Ventura county citrus belt was called recently, that pledge of financial aid from Uncle Same, constantly reiterated by union leaders and strike agitators, was one of the most persuasive arguments used to bring about a general walkout.

Organizers of the strike were most explicit in their instructions. Workers were told to congregate in large groups at the local offices of the SRA, the County Welfare Department and the State Employment Commission—and not to leave until they were put on the relief rolls.

And a few days later, State Relief Administrator Ralph J. Wakefield, testifying before the joint legislative committee investigating abuses in relief administration, admitted that hundreds of the Ventura strikers already had been certified for relief. The strike leaders had made good their boast that "Uncle will feed you!"

The same legislative investigating committee heard farmers and farm representatives from Ventura county denounce "relief for the purpose of encouraging and supporting a strike condition." The farmers bluntly (and correctly) charged that as taxpayers they are being forced to finance strikes against themselves—which, if successful, would put many of them out of business.

There can be no doubt of the credibility of the growers who presented the facts of the Ventura county situation to the legislative committee of inquiry. Among them were Cecil Foster, chairman of the Ventura county lemon growers committee; E. C. Kimball, grower and packer and vice president of the state farm bureau federation, and former Senator Walter Duval of Ventura. In fact, Relief Administrator Wakefield sought to justify the procedure, rather than to deny it, saying that he was complying with the policy laid down by State Relief Commission, which he summarized as follows:

"Examine each individual case on its merits, determine need and eligibility, and if there is no record of the applicant having refused SUITABLE employment, give him relief."

The State Employment Commission, said Mr. Wakefield, determined whether or not relief applicants had refused "suitable employment." Finally, Mr. Wakefield testified, the State Employment Commission would not certify any applicant for work on a ranch or in an industry where strike conditions prevailed.

The testimony was so startling that Senator Jerrold Seawell of Roseville, one of the members of the investigating committee, finally exclaimed: "Let's abolish the employment service!" And Mr. Seawell it should be noted, has been a member of organized labor for years and has long been its champion in the halls of the Legislature.

Some 3,000 pickers walked out in the Ventura lemon strike, tying up not only picking but also halting work in the cooperative packing plant. If all of the strikers were certified for relief, the investigating committee was told the cost to the taxpayers would be $100,000 a month. And it was also testified that this would likely become a permanent cost, as migrant workers, anxious for employment, were willing to take the strikers' jobs.

A great share of that cost, of course, would be borne by the farmers, while the remainder would be paid by other citizens who were not parties to the strike and had not been consulted concerning it.

It is reported that the legislature, incensed at this practice of using public funds to finance private labor wars, will enact stringent legislation, defining and restricting the powers of the relief administration to give relief to persons who voluntarily quit their employment. And certainly it is to be hoped that the legislature will do so, for the present practice is a flagrant abuse of public power which is tantamount to misuse of public funds.

While wage demands were the ostensible cause of the Ventura strike, the actual objective, as many of the labor organizers frankly admitted, was "unionization of the citrus industry." Under the contract proposed by the strike leaders, any union employee in the industry would have the right to refuse to work with

Short Formal Program Will Be Followed By Dancing, Reception

A community farewell reception for the officers and men of Company D, 115th Engineers—El Dorado County's National Guard Company which will soon be leaving for a year of field training—will be held tonight at the high school auditorium.

The El Dorado County high school band, with Charles W. Ball directing, will assist with the program which has been arranged by the general committee of which George E. Faugstad is chairman.

Dancing during the later evening, during which the friends of the guards will have opportunity to visit with them, will be to the music of Red's Rhythm Rascals.

"Eyes" Of Army Move To Camp

Observation Squadron's Advance Detail Arrives At San Luis Obispo

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO (Special)—An advance detail of the 115th Observation Squadron, Army Air Corps, attached to the 40th Division, dropped down at the army's new Paso Robles Airport Monday, to prepare for the arrival of the main force of planes and men next Thursday.

Burrows, advance liaison officers who have been stationed here to coordinate the squadron plans with those of camp and division headquarters. Capt. Burrows will be operations officer when the squadron is assembled at Paso Robles.

When the 40th Division takes the field in training operations, the 115th Observation Squadron will be in the air, reporting on the disposition of "enemy" and "friendly" ground forces and installations, directing artillery fire and helping to keep field commanders in touch with each other.

SHORT SESSION IS EXPECTED

Legislator Hopes U. S. 50 May Be All-Year Highway Following Opening

By A. G. THURMAN
Assemblyman, Sixth District

SACRAMENTO—Your state legislature again got under way last week following the constitutional recess while there may be differences of opinion on such matters as taxation and the budget, the legislators do appear agreed that this session will not be the long drawn out affair that the last regular session was. The 1939 session lasted 131 days plus special sessions in 1940 totaling 40 days. This session, however, the legislators are starting out like they intended to speed up somewhat and eliminate unnecessary delays. Already several bills have been passed in both houses while some measures have been killed in committee. If the committees function as they should and only pass out measures which have merit, the work of the two houses will be considerably speeded up.

One measure which was killed in committee last week was A. B. 935 by Assemblyman Robertson. This bill would have repealed a section of the Military and Veterans code relating to an appropriation for war veterans' dependents. The measure was ordered tabled in committee by the author. Your assemblyman, as a member of the soldiers and sailors affairs committee had received a number of letters protesting this measure and we are happy to report that it has been tabled and as a result, no further action on the bill will be taken. All veterans organizations and their auxiliaries opposed the measure.

A rather vicious bill that affects the mining industry was introduced in the closing hours of the January session. The bill, A. B. 2006 by Desmond and Cain, provide for regulation and control as well as licensing of all mining operations on streams furnishing water for domestic use to cities and water districts. You can be assured that your representatives from the mining districts will oppose this bill most strenuously.

The writer has received numerous letters from sportsmen regarding a number of fir arms bills which have been introduced as so-called defense measures. We believe that we can safely say that all such legislation will be opposed by the numerous sportsmen who are members of the legislature.

Your assemblyman has also received numerous letters from people residing in the district relative to matters which they favor or oppose. We have endeavored to reply either by letter or card to all of these communications and wish to reiterate here that all such communications will be given our careful consideration.

The question of whether to reduce taxes is still being discussed and there is quite a difference of opinion among the legislators regarding the matter. But whether taxes are reduced or not, the budget is certain to be reduced.

One thing which the people can depend upon as far as this legislature goes, is that the legislators are going to do all in their power to curtail unnecessary spending in the operation of your state government.

We are happy to know that at least the appeals of the citizens of El Dorado County as well as your representatives in the legislature relative to the opening of U. S. Highway 50 have been given consideration and the highway is now open. Let us hope that next year the highway will remain open throughout the entire year.

Greeks Fight
ATHENS, (UP)—Premier Alexander Korizis, it became known today, has placed himself on record against cession of "a single foot of Greek soil to any aggressor" and for continuance of Greece's struggle for "honor, independence and liberty."

By UNITED PRESS
The Vichy government of France today threatened to embark on a policy almost certain to lead to armed clashes and even possible war with Great Britain.

The threat was made by the vice-premier, Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, who asserted flatly that he is prepared to use the French fleet if necessary, to convoy food through the British blockade to France.

The Balkans appeared to be marking time. Next on the schedule, according to many Balkan sources, will be a German-Jugoslav non-aggression pact.

Turkish reports said German dive bombers have arrived in the Dodecanese Islands just off the Turkish coast. Athens reported fresh victories over the Italians in the Tepeh area of Albania.

The Germans made their second heavy air attack on London in two nights, causing a number of casualties, and long range German guns from the French coast blasted at a convoy in the English Channel. British planes smashed heavily at the invasion coast.

Axis comment on the senate passage of the lend-lease bill was skimpy except for the always vocal Virginia Gayda. He said it was equivalent to United States intervention in the war and might bring Japan in on the side of the Axis.

Fred D. Kelly, Farm Worker, Succumbs

Fred D. Kelly, 69, resident in the county about fifteen years and formerly employed in farm work in the Missouri Flat section, passed away on Sunday at a Placerville Hospital.

Mr. Kelly was a native of Connecticut, born January 31, 1872, and spent his early life in Massachusetts. Friends report that he was a veteran of the Spanish-American War.

The arrangements for the funeral services are in the care of Memory Chapel.

NOTIONAL GUARDS GUESTS OF MRS. ALICE HOWE SUNDAY EVENING

Officers and men of Company D, 115th Engineers, California National Guard, were guests of Mrs. Alice Howe, of Howe's Market, at an informal reception at the store on Sunday evening.

The occasion was one of a series of informal private social occasions being tendered the guards and their officers in the community prior to their departure the latter part of the week for Camp San Luis Obispo.

WAR AID BILL MAY BE LAW WEDNESDAY

Bullitt Warns House Group On "Attitude" Of Nation Toward War

WASHINGTON, (UP)—William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, told the house judiciary committee today that there is a "striking analogy" between the present attitude in the United States and the attitude that destroyed France.

He told the committee that a big block of "long overdue" labor reforms, strikes and communist sabotage slowed French production materially "just at the time she should have been producing with every energy to meet the German menace."

"The analogy between that attitude," he said, "and the attitude in this country today is striking. 'We're producing well and producing honestly, but we're building a 20-foot rope to do a 30-foot job.'"

Action Mapped
WASHINGTON, (UP)—President Roosevelt today prepared to put the lend-lease bill into operation this week, and possibly make a "fire side chat" in which he would explain in general the assistance he proposes to give to Britain and the other nations fighting the Axis.

The President expects the measure to reach his desk for signature Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to ask congress immediately for additional authorizations for the billions of dollars in war materials, and possibly food, which will be transferred abroad under the measure.

The first assistance to be given the British will be from equipment that the army and navy now have on hand and can spare—expected to include some airplanes and ships. Additional assistance will have to be appropriated for by congress.

The house is expected to concur in senate amendments to the measure tomorrow. Then the engrossed copy of the bill will be sent to the White House, bearing the signature of Vice (Continued on Page Four)

by DAVIS DRESSER
Copr. 1938 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

In Miami, Jim Talbot, adventurer, meets James Long, his exact double. Long is about to sail for Costanagua, Central American republic, in response to a mysterious appeal from Zachary Webb, veteran soldier of fortune. When unknown plotters slay Long, Jim assumes his identity and sails in his place. Aboardship, he discovers that a fellow passenger, Strade, is the man who wants "Long" out of the way. He falls in love with Strade's beautiful secretary, Vera, but turns against her when, after he reaches Costanagua, she lures him into a trap. He learns from Zach Webb and his friend, Don Jose Alvarado de Montez, that Strade is fomenting a revolution to gain control of nitrate deposits for a group of European munitions makers. Long's dead father is a national hero, and Zach believes that his son—supposedly Jim—can turn the natives against Strade if taken on a trip through the country. They set out, reaching Penulcao the next night.

CHAPTER XXIII
JIM soon had evidence that his fears as to his reception in Penulcao were groundless. He and his two companions were still a quarter of a mile from the village when they were met by native runners, carrying torches, who welcomed them vociferously and trotted ahead of them with a sing-song chant.

Zach and Don Jose beamed with pleasure. "Ah!" Zach said to Jim. "My messenger arrived safely and has spread the word. Jim, that you are coming! This welcome is for you. It looks as though things will go well!"

As they entered the village's one muddy street, which was flaming with torches, the clan of the runners was taken up by swarms of dark-skinned men, women and children who lined the street and pressed forward eagerly to get a glimpse of Jim.

The village—nothing but a little collection of mud huts—would not ordinarily have been an inspiring sight—but to Jim at this moment, it was a thrilling scene. He was deeply stirred by this spectacle of hundreds of natives who had gathered to pay their respects to the son of Costanagua's national hero.

"You see?" Jim heard Don Jose saying. "I told you that the magic of your name alone would win half the battle. They have never seen you before but because your name is James Long, because you are the son of their hero, they already adore you. Many of them have come miles to greet you!"

Jim filled with a strange exaltation sat more erect in his saddle, trying to play and look the part of a hero. The knowledge that he was not the man they thought he was, and did not deserve this homage, did not seem to matter. His identity was insignificant. He was a symbol—a symbol placed in the hands of Zachary Webb and Don Jose to save the country from disruption.

This inward conception of himself as a symbol strengthened and upheld him during the ceremonies that followed. Dismounting before the headman's house, he and Zach and Don Jose were gravely met by the village chief and by half a dozen lesser chiefs who had been summoned from the outlying country.

JIM, carefully drilled beforehand, kept his wits about him and said the right things with the right inflection as each chief came forward to be presented in a flowery speech by Don Jose.

The headman, a grizzled old man, was the only one of the group who had known the elder Jimmy Long personally. His eyes gleamed as they searched Jim's face. His clawlike hands gripped the young man's shoulders as he spoke in a trembling voice.

"Welcome to Costanagua, my son! Your father was much beloved here—"

What dish to celebrate the day of Ireland's favorite son could be better than a genuine Mulligan Stew:

Irish Stew
2 pounds lean lamb, 1/2 can tomatoes, 12 small onions, 12 small potatoes, 3 carrots, 1 turnip, stalk of celery, parsley, 2 leeks, 1/2 clove garlic, 1/4 head of cabbage, 12 black peppers, salt and paprika to taste.

Flour and sear in butter or other fat, lamb which has been cut in cubes. Brown 2 chopped onions in butter, add paprika, black peppers, garlic, and cover with water. Cook rapidly for half hour. Cut celery, carrots, turnips, cabbage and leeks. With tomatoes add to stew and cook another half hour not too fast. Add potatoes onions and salt to taste and cook slowly for 45 minutes. Parsley chopped fine may be added at this point or a few minutes before stew is done. Pour off the juice which should be thick and keep solid ingredients warm. Cook dumplings in juice—good "Irish" dumplings are made out of bread dough. Place dumplings in hot liquid and cover with a transparent pie plate. Steam about 15 minutes.

Why not plan to have hot cross buns for Saturday night supper and make enough to warm over for the Sunday morning breakfast. The Granular Yeast firm puts out a streamlined version of an ancient recipe:

Hot Cross Buns (about 3 doz.)
2 packages fast granular yeast, 1 cup lukewarm water, 1 cup milk, scalded and cooled, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup small seedless raisins, 2 eggs well beaten, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon of nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 7 cups or more sifted flour.

Pour granular yeast into cup of water, add 1 teaspoon sugar, stir and let stand 5 minutes. Scald and cool milk. Cream together shortening, remaining sugar and salt. Measure 3 cups of flour into mixing bowl. Add softened yeast to lukewarm milk and blend this liquid with flour, beating until smooth. Next add the creamed mixture, the beaten eggs, spice and enough more flour to handle. Knead thoroughly, adding more flour if necessary, but keeping dough as soft as possible. Lastly work in raisins which have been previously soaked a few minutes in hot water, drained, dried and dusted with flour. Place dough in a greased bowl, cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled. Fold into 3 equal parts and let rise again about three-quarters as much as the first time. Turn dough onto a floured board and divide into even pieces.

Hints For The Housewife

By Marion Cunningham
Home Economist

I've been dreaming about a model kitchen. It would be sunny, easy-to-clean and wonderfully labor-saving. And some day maybe we'll all be cooking in dream kitchens, because everything that goes into mine is made and sold right here in the U. S. A. Here's what it's like. It has panels of glass blocks that let the sunshine in but insure privacy. Its floor is of spotless linoleum, and it is compact rather than spacious. It will have walls of lemon yellow and green—handled utensils, or pale blue walls with accents of cherry red.

Marion Cunningham

The pride and glory of this kitchen will be the main functional units, a Frigidaire refrigerator and electric range of gleaming white. Mine will be no ordinary refrigerator, but one that is styled with beauty and distinction. It will have a generous cold-wall compartment for preserving fresh foods and left-overs and a utility storage space at the bottom for staple foods that require no refrigeration.

The electric range will be equipped with fluorescent lighting shed from slim modern tubes. It will have a five-speed radiant-tube unit and insulated oven. It will also have a cookmaster for automatic timing so that I can pop the food in, set the timer, and go out for the afternoon without a worry in the world.

There will be ample cupboard space with graduated shelves to eliminate messy stacking of pans and uncomfortable stooping to reach them. The pots and pans themselves will be stainless, durable and shaped for practical cooking.

This dream kitchen will be the best that money can buy, for highest quality in equipment receiving hard, every-day use—over the years—truest economy.

Golden Marmalade

2 medium sized oranges, 2 1/2 cups of water, 3 cups beet sugar, grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, 2 cups dried apricots, slice one unpeeled orange very thin, squeeze juice from second orange; add water to sliced orange and lemon rind and boil one hour. Rinse apricots and boil until tender in water to cover (about 45 minutes); beat to a pulp. Add sugar, cooked range, orange juice and lemon juice. Boil slowly until thick about one hour. Stir frequently to prevent scorching. Pour into hot glasses and seal. This is sufficient for 6 to 8 glasses.

How to coax a man to eat VEGETABLES
by Dorothy Greig

WE strive with might and main to train Johnny to eat his vegetables. But how about Johnny's father? Does he pursue an unrelenting meat-and-potato way? Is he getting enough fruits and vegetables to keep him full of pep? Maybe a little missionary work is in order for him, too.

Men demand flavor, first, last and all the time. Presented with vegetables that look appetizing and taste the same way, they will eat and enjoy them.

Vegetables don't lack flavor. But a little persuasion is needed to bring it to perfection.

Cauliflower Topped with Celery-Cheese Sauce

For instance, in cooking most vegetables, be sparing of water. Cook until tender and not one minute longer. Serve while fresh and hot.

And season! Try a sprinkling of nutmeg on carrots, for example, or onion butter over beets. In the vegetable dish marry strips of white turnip and green peas with melted butter and a dash of paprika over all. Serve lemon wedges to squeeze over chopped spinach.

Or step up flavor via a sauce. Here is one smooth with a cheese tang which does wonders for cauliflower... and is equally persuasive over carrots, onions or potatoes.

Cauliflower with Celery-Cheese Sauce

1 (2 lbs.) head cauliflower
Remove leaves and stalk from cauliflower. Soak for about 20 minutes, head down in cold salt water (1 teaspoon to 1 quart water). Cook, uncovered, in boiling salted water 8-20 minutes, or until just tender. Break off the flowerets of cauliflower and serve mixed with the sauce or serve the sauce over the entire cooked head of cauliflower. Sprinkle with chopped parsley, if desired.

Celery-Cheese Sauce

1 can condensed celery soup
1/2 cup milk
2 ozs. pimiento cheese

Combine the milk with condensed celery soup and add the pimiento cheese. Heat until the cheese is melted. Serve over the flowerets of cauliflower or over the entire head. Serves 6.

non-union employees. In other words, the strikers were seeking to drive the opening wedge for a closed shop contract.

California farmers, knowing that closed shop conditions would put them completely at the mercy of city labor bosses, with no understanding of farm problems or care of farm costs, are, for the most part, bitterly opposed to attempts to give labor unions the whip hand over their industry. But apart from the merits of that controversy, the man who quits his job of his own free will certainly has no right to support from the working men and women of California who must foot the bill for relief costs.

"DIAMOND FRONTIER" IS TUESDAY FEATURE AT EMPIRE

Telling a story of injustice and revenge, Universal's "Diamond Frontier" comes to the Empire theater Tuesday.

Starring Victor McLaglen with John Loder, eminent British actor, as the victim of McLaglen's injustice, the drama tells the story of the discovery of diamonds in South Africa. In the mad rush to stake out claims and the mad disorder and lawlessness that follows, Loder suffers from McLaglen's greed and cruelty, is imprisoned, and then returns to pursue his vengeance against the man who had wronged him.

BAKER, 75, BEATS WOMAN
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., (P) — 75-year-old F. J. McCarthy says he won the Pioneer Valley apple pie making championship from women competitors because he had done the family baking since his wife died in 1907.

"THE WIDE SELECTION OF MERCHANDISE offered in Placerville markets makes shopping a real pleasure," said Miss Nancy Baker, famous Happy Kitchen Cooking School economist who arrived in Placerville yesterday to prepare for her cooking classes. She is pictured here choosing the products she will feature at the big three day cooking school which will be presented under the auspices of this newspaper on March 12-13-14. Sessions will begin promptly at 2 o'clock at the Shakespeare Club House. There is no admission charge and all readers and their friends are invited to attend.

HIGHER OCTANE RATING FOR MOBILGAS FUEL IS ANNOUNCED

Owners of all kinds of cars will be interested in the announcement just made by General Petroleum Corporation that its new gasolines — Mobilgas and Mobilgas Special — have been still further improved, not only with a higher octane rating, but with a complete balance and stepping up of performance that promises to benefit owners of automobiles both old and new.

"General Petroleum Corporation has a fixed policy of keeping abreast of and even ahead of automotive developments," says A. J. Donnelly, northern California resident manager, "and its great staff of research engineers is at work constantly to develop new methods or scientific formulae that will bring to the motorist a constantly bettered performance at a continuing economy of operation."

"Only last summer we brought out a new Mobilgas and Mobilgas Special with higher octane. Now we are again stepping up the octane, along with a new balance and specification that tests have shown provide improved road performance, better mileage, better hill climbing ability and better all around operation under any climatic conditions.

"As usual, a heavy newspaper campaign is announcing these improvements to Pacific Coast motorists," Donnelly states, "in line with the desire of the distributors of 'America's Favorite Gasoline' to acquaint motorists as rapidly and effectively as possible with the added advantages to be secured through the use of these improved motor fuels."

Dictatorship Rules L. I. School for a Day

Dictatorship replaces democracy at the Pierson School in Sag Harbor, L. I., as the students learn the blessings of liberty by cancelling the Bill of Rights for one day. "Storm troopers" arrested and punished "enemies of the state," such as users of lipstick, who were forced to scrub the school steps. Here the "dictator" reviews his troops, members of the school band.

KITCHEN CHATS

with Katherine Kerry

"Count your blessings" should be the universal theme song, but particularly should be sung loud and lustily in California where our blessings are practically countless.

It gives me the greatest thrill in the world to drive along California's fine highways, seeing the well kept homes, beautiful orchards, vast and productive sugar beet fields (over 175,000 acres of them, if you please), the orange trees tipped with gold, apples, unmatched in the world, and so many other fine evidences of prosperity.

We have a job to do. That of keeping California what she is today, of saying we are proud and proving it by patronizing her generosity—buying at home and giving our support to those people who made our laden tables possible.

Elsewhere in the world, folks pay a premium for our products, yet at home at times we are careless. Remember the old saying "the grass looks greenest on the other fellow's street." Let us not have this said about our State.

The California beet sugar industry is the fifth largest agricultural activity in the State, bringing hundreds of thousands of dollars to the workers in all branches of farming and industry.

Be proud of the industry and proud of the product, for it is the finest sugar money can buy. See that plenty of sugar is included in your diet, for it is energy giving food and these modern, streamlined days require a maximum of energy to meet their demands.

How do you use sugar? From early morn when it sweetens your coffee, is sprinkled over your cereal, and is included in the jam or jelly used on your hot biscuits, in the sherbet you have for lunch, to the cake or pie that puts a proper topping to your evening meal, beet sugar is an essential.

Let us pull down the curtain on a successful day's eating with one of

French Apple Pie

Slice 6 good California cooking apples thin and place in an uncooked pie shell. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons of California-grown beet sugar, ½ teaspoon of cinnamon and 2 tablespoons of lemon juice over the top. Make a mixture of ½ cup of California-grown beet sugar, ½ cup of flour, ¼ cup of butter, and ½ cup of chopped nuts. Blend together well and sprinkle over the top of the apples. Bake the pie at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce the heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes longer, or until done.

The children will be crazy about:

Raggedy Ann Brittle

Six cups of cereal flakes, 1 cup of seedless raisins, three-fourths cup of chopped nut meats, 2 cups of California-grown beet sugar, 1 teaspoon of butter, 4 tablespoons of vinegar, one-third cup of water, one half teaspoon salt.

The cereal flakes should be crisp and uncrushed and the raisins with no moisture added. Combine the flakes, raisins and nuts in a large pan. Place in the oven to warm. Boil the rest of the ingredients to the hard crack stage or 300 degrees. Pour slowly over the flake mixture. Blend lightly but thoroughly. Spread on a buttered sheet and avoid packing. Cool and break.

WESTERN AUTO DEALER HOME FROM SALES CONVENTION

A recent visitor to Oakland, where he attended the two-day sales convention of the Western Auto Supply Company, Walter D. Snow, authorized dealer in Placerville for Western Auto, is high in praise for the variety of merchandise now being shown at all stores.

Affording the opportunity to Western Auto Supply Company store managers and authorized dealer store owners to become both familiar with this merchandise and to discuss merchandising plans for the automotive supply company's Silver Anniversary year, outstanding items for 1931 were displayed and demonstrated by manufacturer's factory representatives from various sections of the country.

Some of the new items are vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, kerosene stoves and silverware.

Highly enthusiastic over the new 1941 lines of merchandise and the special merchandising events to be featured during the Western Auto Supply's Silver Anniversary Year, Mr. Snow concludes, "markets have been combed for new and better merchandise, so as to offer both old and new Western Auto Supply customer friends the greatest saving in the history of the company."

Britain Tightens Belt

LONDON, (UP) — Great Britain, hailing senate passage of the lease-lend bill and looking forward to greater aid by the United States, tightened its food control system today and put the admiralty in charge of shipyard workers throughout the United Kingdom in preparation for a knockout fight against Germany.

Prospective enactment of the lease-lend bill was welcomed almost as much for its moral effect as for the physical aid it would bring to Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blair drove in Friday from New York City, where Mrs. Blair had met her husband as he returned with a Department of Agriculture survey crew from South America.

Mr. Blair was operated upon for appendicitis shortly following his return, a circumstance which delayed the trip home from Washington.

The Department of Agriculture survey of which Mr. Blair was a member was one which visited South America in the interest of the development of commercial rubber production in the western hemisphere, and its destination was the upper Amazon Valley, reached by way of Lima, Peru.

SNOWPLOW REPORTED WORKING AT TAMARACK FLAT ON MONDAY

The snowplow sent to Twin Bridges last Thursday night to start opening Route 50 to travel across the Echo summit was reported Monday to have reached Tamarack Flat.

It was indicated that this was the point farthest east reached by the plow, and that immediate work of the day would be to widen the channel cut through the snow to that point.

Route 50 remains closed to traffic at Twin Bridges.

Reports from Lake Valley Monday morning said that a plow working westerly on the route had gained the Echo summit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Meikle of Driggs, Idaho, were here two days last week for a visit with the Clyde Curtis family. Mr. Harper is Mrs. Curtis' brother.

POSTOFFICE GROUNDS HAVE ORNAMENTAL SHRUBBERY

During the latter part of last week the grounds of the new Placerville postoffice building on Main Street, near Bedford Avenue were ornamented by the planting of a large amount of shrubbery.

Postmaster Anna Scherrer reports that the work was advertised for by the government and that the contract was awarded to the California Nursery Company, of Niles.

The various shrubs planted were supplied according to specifications as to variety and size and it is a part of the contract that the nursery will care for the shrubbery and replace any unsatisfactory plants during the next year.
